3 Hothfield Parish Council

We are planning an event in the village to mark the Queen's Diamond Jubilee on Thursday 2nd June at the Village Hall 1pm, further details to follow. Volunteers would be much appreciated.

Now for some very sad news. As a lot of villagers will be aware, Richard Sutcliffe passed away recently. Richard was a wonderful gentleman and a great asset to Hothfield, in recent years Richard arranged for the printing and distribution of Hothfield News. He will be very sadly missed and on behalf of the Parish Council I would like to pass on our deepest condolences to Penny, Jo & Tim.

Take care.

Ian Lloyd, Chair HPC

Planning.

The deadline for 22/00132, 3-4 The Street, has been extended to beyond the next meeting of HPC on March 2nd; at which meeting the application will be discussed.

An appeal has been submitted against the refusal of 20/01644, land behind the Old Nursery behind Thanet Terrace. HPC will be making a submission to support its stance.'

This Spring it really feels that we are getting back to normal scouting. It feels good! All our sections are meeting every week and following a programme that is based on empowering the young people to develop whilst having fun. There are some special events that we are particularly looking forward to:

This year two of our explorer scouts are joining a party going to a game reserve in South Africa. They will be working on conservation and environmental projects- a life changing opportunity. We need to raise money to help pay for their trip. This month we are holding a quiz evening with all profits going to this project. Please look out for details and support them by bringing a team or donating a raffle prize.

We are planning our St George's Day parade and service next month. Because of Covid this hasn't happened for the last two years.

All sections are planning special events for the warmer weather. It wouldn't be scouting if there wasn't camping. More details later

The big news this month is that we are planning the 2022 1st Charing Gang Show. Our scouts and explorers are leading on this and will be planning and running the event on the weekend of 24-26th June. Look out for more details later.

what a wonderful weald help us keep it that way

weald of kent protection society

The aim of our dedicated team of volunteers is to protect our unique Wealden towns, villages and countryside from the effects of damaging and unsuitable development, preserving its charm and character for future generations to enjoy. We welcome active members to help us with a range of activities, from scrutinising planning applications to organising events. If, like us, you care about the Weald, please get in touch and get involved.

HOTHFIELD HEATHLANDS IN MARCH

The pace of life, that was quietly ticking over through the winter, is picking up on the Heathlands. With longer days and stronger sun, solitary bees and other early insects are foraging, overwintering butterflies emerge on warm days, caterpillars munch quietly in the grass and leaf litter or on twigs. There's a twitter and flutter of birds in mating plumage. Migrant birds start to fly off (because it's too far to walk, according to an old cracker joke I found recently. Sorry).

One of the earliest flowers is dogs mercury in the wooded areas, with small tassels of tiny green flowers quickly hidden by the developing leaves. Wood anemones will be flowering. I have a photo of them with a sprinkling of snow on 17 March 2018. A few violet flowers will be tucked under leaves. By the end of the month shining yellow celandine will open on sunny days. Bare trees cast complex shadows as buds fatten, and the subtle colours of moss and lichen glow. Fungi are still very visible, while glossy arum leaves and bramble and nettles sprout early to get ahead of the crowd. Gorse flowers seem to go on and on.

The early catkins of the hazel that light up February with their green-yellow have been replaced by the catkins of the willow, or goat willow, Salix caprea (caprea from the Latin for goat). It also flowers before the leaves appear, but unlike the hazel, this willow has male and female catkins (flowers) on different plants, as does the holly. The small oval male catkins covered in grey silky hairs resemble a cat's paw, hence 'pussy willow'. They clasp the twig tightly until several hundred stamens expand from the catkin, each tipped with a yellow anther bearing pollen. This is scattered by the wind but also collected by bumble bees. Female catkins are larger and green, with many short stigmas protruding to catch the pollen. Once fertilised these ripen into minute seeds embedded in white fluffy hair which are then dispersed by the wind. This cotton wool makes a very visible carpet around the trees later in spring. The seed needs bare ground in order to germinate.

Sallow is native here and across Europe and Asia as far as Mongolia, tolerating very harsh conditions. It is a pioneer plant, growing on bare soil and stopping other plants growing under it through chemicals in its fallen leaves. Trees or bushes often occur singly or in small groups, easily hybridising with other species. Sallow has wide roundish leaves with a point at the end bent to one side. The underside of the leaf is downy. It is browsed by mammals and an important food for butterflies, moths and other insects. There are several along the lower side of the boardwalk across the main bog. Willow bark was once the sole source of salicylic acid, the basis of aspirin, its discovery derived from the belief that endemic illnesses had a remedy close by; rheumatism is associated with living in damp places, which is where willow occurs.

It's a joy to walk on Hothfield Heathlands, and everyone is welcome to visit.

Please remember this is first and foremost a haven for wildlife. You can help our work by staying on the main established paths and wearing footwear suitable for coping with the muddy sections. Keep dogs close at all times; do not let your dog run off the paths and through the areas of heather and gorse where they will disturb wildlife.

Make sure anything you bring with you leaves the reserve with you. Remove litter and dog mess, and place all dog bags in the bins. Hothfield Heathlands is one of the best spots of wildlife in the county, with your help we can keep it that way.

The first phase of the removal of dangerous roadside ash trees will have been completed by the time this is published. Nothing will be wasted, with some of the felled trees left for fungi and wood boring insects, whilst the rest will be used for fuel or timber. <https://www.kentwildlifetrust.org.uk/ash-dieback>

5 Nine Oaks Vineyard and Hothfield Public Rights of Way

NINE OAKS

HOTHFIELD · KENT

As Nine Oaks Vineyard enters its third season, we wanted to issue a reminder regarding the use of the land and particularly the use of the public rights of way (PROWs) by members of the public.

Two PROWs exist on the piece of land now known as Nine Oaks Vineyard.

PROW I67 runs from the gate on The Street towards St Margaret's Church.

PROW I66 begins at the gate and transects both vineyard plots, by means of a pedestrian gate. A second pedestrian gate marks the boundary of Nine Oaks Vineyard and the adjoining livestock fields. PROW I66 is also the route of the Greensand Way.

We are aware that on some maps, including older editions of the Ordnance Survey and even the Kent County Council (KCC) website at low resolutions, the route of the Greensand Way follows an alternative route (marked 'path') down the side of the vineyard. This is not a public right of way. KCC are aware of these issues, and are in the process of correcting them. We are working closely with KCC to update the PROW signage around the vineyard. We have also begun an application to re-route

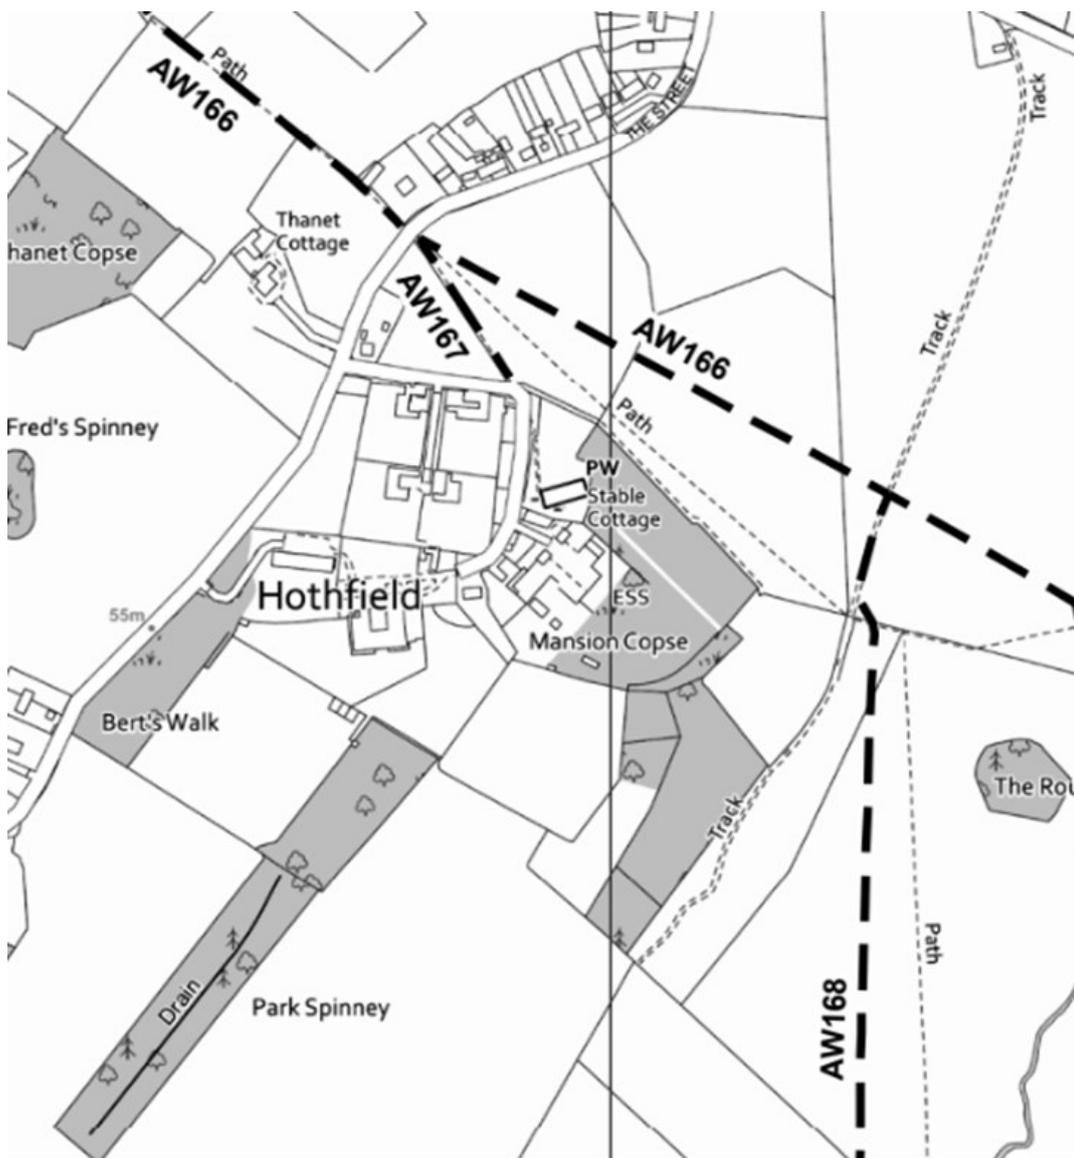

PROW I66 to the alternative route; however, we would like to remind walkers that currently there is no access or public right of way through the five bar gate between the vineyard and the adjoining livestock fields. The gate is closed to maintain separation between the two properties, and for the protection of both the sheep and the vines.

We accept that several routes have been used around the vineyard for many years, and at this time we are content for people to use either the PROW through the vineyard, the path along the wood or that between the Church and the gate between vineyard plots. We do ask, however, that people only use one of the three PROW KCC managed gates to enter or exit the vineyard plot.

If there are any questions relating to the above, please do contact us at info@nine-oaks.co.uk.

We would like to thank local walkers and visitors to the vineyard for their continued support and respect for the vines and our project. We look forward to sharing our wine with you for many years to come.

AUNT JEMIMA'S SERIOUS ABOUT SPRING

According to a myth, you can balance an egg on its tip on a flat surface, only on the first day of Spring.

'A little Madness in the Spring Is wholesome even for the King.' – Emily Dickinson

'Despite the forecast, live like it's Spring.' - Lilly Pulitzer

'In the spring, at the end of the day, you should smell like dirt.' – Margaret Atwood

'Walk lightly in the spring; Mother Earth is pregnant.' – Native American Indian Proverb (Kiowa)

'Spring is the only revolutionary whose revolution has succeeded.' – Marianne Van Hirtum

'If spring came but once a century instead of once a year, or burst forth with the sound of an earthquake and not in silence, what wonder and expectation there would be in all hearts to behold the miraculous change.' – Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

'Spring is the time of the year when it is summer in the sun and winter in the shade.' – Charles Dickens

'A life without love is like a year without spring.' – Octavian Paller

'Spring makes the world a happy place;

You see a smile on every face.

Flowers come out and birds arrive,

Oh, ain't it grand to be alive?' – Anonymous

'The only thing that could spoil a day was people. People were always the limiters of happiness except for the very few that were as good as spring itself.' – Ernest Hemingway

'An optimist is the human personification of spring.' – Susan J. Bissonette

'It's spring fever. That is what the name of it is. And when you've got it, you want – oh, you don't quite know what it is you do want, but it just fairly makes your heart ache, you want it so!' – Mark Twain

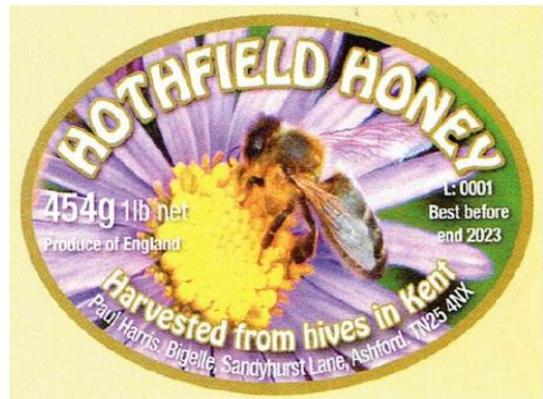

'Spring beckons! All things to the call respond; the trees are leaving and cashiers abscond.' – Ambrose Bierce

'Spring is nature's way of saying, Let's party!' – Robin Williams

'Science has never drummed up quite as effective a tranquilizing agent as a sunny spring day.' – W. Earl Hall
